

EXHIBITIONS POLICY

Displays

Pricing and solicitation of displays and display booths in garages will be controlled by the Southern Utah Home Builders Association ("Association"). All advertising rights in/on Parade Home and property during the course of the Parade belong to the Southern Utah Home Builders Association. Builders are encouraged to work with their specific suppliers, developers and marketing agents to encourage them to lease from the Association appropriate garage space to display products used in their Home. All arrangements for garage spaces must be made through the Association. The builder may, at his own discretion, lease his entire garage space from the Association for the purposes of marketing himself or his project. This desire should be communicated to Association staff prior to start of exhibition sales to members so determination of available exhibition spaces may be completed. No other businesses may be included in his garage space leased for benefit of Builder only. The Builder should contact the SUHBA office for further information regarding garage leasing.

- Visitor registrations, gift giveaways, or contests held in conjunction with the Parade are limited to garage vendors assigned by Association. Those activities must be confined to garage vendor space only.
- No vehicles will be allowed in driveways or garages during the official Parade hours except as assigned by the Association.
- Realtors or brokers, if used as hosts, working at the builder's Parade Home may not promote any projects or real estate that the Builder is not directly involved with, including developments, subdivisions, multiple listing services, etc. Obviously this does not apply to leased garage space if leased by realty company.
- Parade homes are not to be included in any Talking House or similar promotions during the course of the Parade. No radio transmitters or other such devices shall be placed within the Parade Home for the purposes of advertising the Home to outside interests during the course of the Parade.

Exhibition Identification in Parade of Homes Garages

The contract and policy for individuals advertising their services and/or products in Parade garages requires that only those businesses who are members of SUHBA may receive the member discount rate. All entities (whether member or non-member) must be identified correctly should their product appear in the show.

The following policies will be enforced:

1. All exhibitors in the Parade garages must have a signed contract, paid in advance to SUHBA.
2. No agreements, either verbal or in writing, may be initiated by the Parade builder with any other person or legal entity.
3. Should a Parade builder wish to exhibit the work of his company's "EMPLOYEES" in the garage as part of the builder exhibit in that garage the following criteria MUST be met PRIOR to set-up in the garage to be within the parameters of the Advertising Policy.
 - The services/product/results of workmanship displayed in the garage may only be identified as the name of the Parade builder's company.
 - If the Builder chooses to identify the individual names of employees who performed the service/product/result on display in the home, the employee must be a "bona fide" employee being paid by the company identified as the Parade Builder. This definition would be defined as individuals listed on Builders payroll reports to verify actual employment by the Builder (as opposed to 1099 or contract labor).
 - If the individual employee is identified in the garage they must NOT have a business for profit owned by the employee they are advertising in addition to their employee status. Should they perform other services for hire for any other individual or entity, they MUST sign the Exhibit Space Agreement, pay the non-member fee or join the association in the business name they generate revenue from and pay the member fee.
